Introduction.

The International Community is increasingly involved in the fight against crime. Proof of this are rules such as Recommendation 18/88 of 20 October 1988 by the Committee of Ministers of the Member States of the Council of Europe, the Brussels Convention of 26 May 1997 on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Union, the New York Convention of 9 December 1999 on terrorism, Council Framework Decision 2002/629/JHA, now replaced by Directive 2011/36/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council, of 5 April 2011, on preventing and combating trafficking in human beings and protecting its victims, Directive 2008/99/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council, of 19 November 2008, on the protection of the environment through criminal law and EU Framework Decisions 2005/222 on attacks against information systems, 2004/757 on penalties in the field of illicit drug trafficking, and Framework Decision 2004/68 on sexual exploitation and child pornography, among others, as well as the UN Convention and Protocols against transnational organised crime.

From the time of its foundation, Grupo Tubos Reunidos (hereinafter also referred to as the “Group”, “TR Group” or “Tubos Reunidos”), has expressed a firm commitment to ethical conduct, and understands that the best way to fulfil such commitment is to establish and implement mandatory rules and effective internal supervision and control procedures to ensure that:

- The operating standards, control and communication systems are complied with, in order to prevent the misuse of its activity for criminal purposes;
- All its employees observe crime prevention policies and procedures; and
- Criminal laws are strictly enforced, preventing the commission of crimes.

This Code of Ethical Conduct of Tubos Reunidos (hereinafter, the “Code”), which is mandatory for all our directors, executives and employees, reflects our respect for people and the law, as well as our commitment and responsibility towards our employees and the other stakeholders of Grupo Tubos Reunidos (collaborators, Public Authorities, shareholders, etc.).

Adherence to this Code is absolutely essential to guarantee that all of us who belong to Grupo Tubos Reunidos fully comply with the catalogue of ethical operating standards and specific guidelines that must govern the behaviour of everyone in the organisation.

This set of rules is an essential pillar of the Group's Compliance System, and we must all embrace it and become actively involved in its implementation and development, in order to further improve our culture of compliance with ethical and legal standards.

Our thanks in advance for making it yours and complying with this important Code.

In Bilbao, on 29 April 2021

Signed Mr. Francisco Irazusta
