

María Sicilia Salvadores

Bachelor in Law from the Universidad Complutense and in Business Administration from the Universidad San Pablo-CEU, a Master's degree in Public Policy and Economics from the National Institute of Public Administration/ENA and the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) respectively, and executive education from Harvard Business School.

She is currently Director of Strategy at Enagás, a global gas infrastructure company listed on the IBEX35. She has worked at Iberdrola Renovables as head of regulatory foresight in 23 countries and as Deputy Director General of Energy Planning for the Spanish Government. She is an Independent Director and Chair of the Appointments and Remuneration Committee of Soltec Power Holdings, and Proprietary Director of DualMetha.